ACADEMIC COUNSELING
Eight academic counselors, three learning specialists, two assistant academic counselors and one computer specialist are in place to monitor daily academic progress, receive consistent course feedback, assist with the advising/registration process and monitor eligibility and progress toward graduation.

TUTORIAL SUPPORT
A tremendous resource for all academic abilities, unlimited tutorial support from approximately 75-100 tutors on staff is available from day one up to college graduation in all subject areas. The tutorial program is certified as a model tutoring program by the College Reading and Learning Association.

STUDY HALL
Nebraska's study hall program is housed in the Scott Technology Center within the Student Life Complex. Student-athletes attend a supervised, flex-time study hall that features day, evening and weekend hours. Student-athletes are required to complete a specific number of study hours each week as determined by their academic counselor and/or coach. Additional performance-based or tutor-based study hall also may be determined by the academic counselor.

MENTORING
Academic support staff serve as mentors to all incoming student-athletes and select returning student-athletes. The student-athletes meet with their mentor weekly to develop time management skills, gather and report academic progress information and discuss academic success strategies.

EDUCATIONAL ASSESSMENTS
Assessments are administered upon the request of the student-athlete, academic counselor, or coach. Learning specialists are available to administer and score informal assessments, which include a reading comprehension and a writing assessment. When more in-depth assessments are necessary, referrals are made to a consulting neuropsychologist who conducts the assessments. If it is determined a student-athlete has a learning disability or another medical condition that impedes the student from reaching their academic potential, appropriate accommodations are implemented by the Office of Services for Students with Disabilities.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ORIENTATION
Each new student-athlete attends an orientation at the beginning of their academic career. Student-athletes are introduced to staff, faculty, administrators, and a variety of resources that help facilitate the transition into college while enhancing awareness of support services in the Athletic Department and across campus.

PERSONAL COUNSELING
Student-athletes will find a supportive and caring environment at Nebraska. Transitional issues, stress management, time management, academic focus and problem resolution are all addressed in a proactive manner throughout the year. If necessary, counseling referrals are also made to designated practitioners.

COMPUTER RESOURCES
New laptops are provided to all student-athletes for use during their academic career at Nebraska. The Herman Student Life Complex has printers and desktop computers available for student-athletes to use in the facility.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Chartered in Lincoln by the Nebraska Legislature in 1869, the University of Nebraska was expanded in 1968 into a university system now comprising four campuses under the guidance of a Board of Regents and a central administration. The flagship University of Nebraska-Lincoln is an educational institution of international stature. Nebraska is classified within the Carnegie "R1: Doctoral Universities – Highest Research Activity" category. Nebraska is also a land-grant university and a member of the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities. The university is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission.

BIG TEN ACADEMIC ALLIANCE

As a member of the Big Ten, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln is a member of the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA), formerly the Committee on Institutional Cooperation, which is the academic consortium of the universities in the Big Ten Conference. The BTAA includes all 14 Big Ten Institutions and partners with the University of Chicago. The Big Ten Academic Alliance and the institutions together have annual research expenditures topping $10.5 billion - more than the Ivy League and the University of California System combined - and they educate a total of nearly 600,000 students with approximately 50,000 faculty members.

U.S. OLYMPIC TRIALS AT HOME IN NEBRASKA

The CHI Health Center Omaha, formally known as the CenturyLink Center, will play host to its fourth consecutive U.S. Olympic Trials in 2021. Current Huskers Autumn Haebig and Audrey Coffey have earned spots in multiple events to represent Nebraska at the trials.

The state of Nebraska is scheduled to play host to the U.S. Olympic Swimming Trials (June 13-20) at the CHI Health Center, formally known as the CenturyLink Center, in Omaha for the fourth consecutive time in 2021. The event, which is a showcase event with sellout crowds of 14,000 for each day of the trials, has given Nebraska a chance to showcase its love and support for swimming. The original 2020 version of the U.S. Olympic Swimming Trials was postponed to 2021 by the world-wide outbreak of the coronavirus.

Husker senior All-American Autumn Haebig has earned spots in three events for the 2021 U.S. Trials. The Wisconsin native qualified in the 100 back, 200 free and 400 free. Through Haebig's first three seasons at Nebraska, she accumulated 45 top-five finishes, including 25 victories. Haebig is the Nebraska record holder in the 400-meter free (4:14.96) and 100-meter back (1:01.91), while also owning NU records in the 100-yard back (52.29), 200-yard free (1:44.94) and 500-yard free (4:41.83).

Junior Audrey Coffey secured her ticket to Omaha for the 2021 U.S. Olympic Trials as she raced to victory in the 1,500-meter free (16:48.76) at the 2019 Speedo Sectionals in Jenks, Okla. Coffey set the school record in the event before adding CSCAA All-America honors in the 1,650-yard free in 2020. The Illinois native also swam to a school-record in the 1,000-yard free (9:48.15) as a junior.

At the 2016 U.S. Olympic Trials, the Huskers were represented by Omahans Alexandra Bilunas (50 free) and Erin Oeltjen (100 back, 200 back), and Husker teammates Taryn Collura (Phoenix, Ariz., 50 free, 100 fly), Jordan Ehly (Albuquerque, N.M., 200 breast), Morgan McCafferty (Reynoldsburg, Ohio, 100 back) and Katt Sickle (Grain Valley, Mo., 400 free). The 2016 Huskers tripled the number from the 2012 trials (Bailey Pons, 400 free; Shannon Guy, 100 fly).

Autumn Haebig hopes to compete in the 200- and 400-meter freestyle and the 100-meter backstroke at the 2021 U.S. Olympic Trials. Haebig was an All-American in the 200-yard freestyle as a junior at Nebraska in 2019-20.

The state of Nebraska, the Midwest and the entire swimming community took a monumental step on June 28, 2005, when USA Swimming announced Omaha as the host city for the 2008 U.S. Olympic Swimming Trials. After the 2008 Trials proved to be a resounding success, as well as the subsequent 2012 and 2016 Trials, officials from USA Swimming and the Omaha Sports Commission announced the return of the event to Omaha in 2020.

"It came down to the fact that the setup in Omaha for the athletes and coaches is just the best out of all the candidate cities," said Mike Unger, USA Swimming assistant executive director.

The 2008 Trials drew 160,003 fans over eight days and 15 sessions. The 2016 Trials smashed those numbers, with all 15 sessions sold out and attendance exceeding 200,000 for the first time. In 2004, attendance was just over 100,000.

The CHI Health Center has served as a home away from home for Husker Athletics for many years. In 2015, the Nebraska volleyball team won its fourth NCAA title and its second in Omaha. The 2006 Huskers claimed Nebraska's third NCAA volleyball title in Omaha as well, and the arena played host to the 2012 NCAA Volleyball Championships. Nebraska also hosted the Big 12 Wrestling Championships in the building, while the men's basketball team played a regular-season game against Oregon in 2007.

FIVE ALL-AMERICANS LEAD HUSKERS INTO 2021

The unexpected redshirting of the most successful diver in school history and another NCAA-qualifying diver from 2018-19 could not prevent the Nebraska swimming and diving program from continuing to build momentum in 2019-20.

In fact, a world-wide pandemic that prevented a trio of young Husker swimmers and another diver from competing at the 2020 NCAA Championships, could not hold Nebraska back from its steady march to regaining national prominence.

When the dust settled from one of the strangest seasons in college athletics in more than a century, the Husker swimming and diving program emerged ready to potentially produce its best season in two decades in 2020-21.

Although the pandemic has continued to force adjustments to sports around the globe, including the NCAA Division I swimming and diving season, the Huskers are still hungry to compete.

As Nebraska enters its 20th season under legendary Olympic swimmer Pablo Morales, the Huskers are expected to return three 2020 NCAA qualifiers in the pool and three divers who have previously qualified for the NCAA Championships.

While Nebraska's diving corps led by four-time All-American Abi Knapton, two-time All-American Sara Troyer, and 2019 NCAA qualifier Jessica Warak, could make up the best group in school history, the Huskers also return three swimmers who qualified for the 2020 NCAA Championships and earned All-America honors of their own.

"On paper, we have the potential to accomplish some special things individually and as a team this season," Morales said. "However, we know there are going to be some special challenges in both training and competition created by the coronavirus. It is going to take some outstanding leadership to train at a really high level while also remaining flexible to unexpected circumstances that could be completely out of our control. Luckily, I feel like we have some great leaders with great experience on this team."

Nebraska's potential in the diving well starts with Knapton, who will try to become the first swimmer or diver in school history to earn first-team All-America honors four times in the same event (platform). An honorable-mention All-American on the three-meter board in 2019, Knapton also finished in the top eight on all three dives at the 2019 Big Ten Championships.

Troyer, who earned All-America honors in the one meter and three-meter dives as a sophomore in 2020, added a top-eight finish on the three meter at the 2020 Big Ten Championships and a 10th-place finish on the one-meter board at the conference meet.

While Knapton and Troyer have combined for six All-America awards, Warak finished 22nd on platform as a true freshman at the 2019 NCAA Championships, after posting top-20 finishes in all three diving events at her first Big Ten Championships.

Nebraska's six-person diving corps is strengthened by junior Hallie Roman, who took 15th on platform at the 2020 Big Ten Championships. Senior Grace Tiernon adds leadership and experience, while redshirt freshman Reagan Hinze has the potential to make a name for herself in the well in 2020-21.

While Head Diving Coach Natasha Chikina has potentially her best corps in 15 seasons leading the Husker divers, Morales and Associate Head Coach Patrick Rowan have their most talented and deepest group of swimmers.

Senior captain Autumn Haebig (Grafton, Wis.), a CSCAA All-American in the 200 freestyle, joins fellow 2020 All-Americans Audrey Coffey (1,650 free) and Madison Coughlen (200 fly) in powering the Husker swimmers.

Haebig, who also qualified for the 2018 NCAA Championships in the 200 and 500 free and the 100 backstroke, owns Nebraska school records in the 100 back (52.29), 200 free (1:44.94) and 500 free (4:41.83).

As a freshman in 2018, Haebig qualified for the NCAA Championships in the 100 backstroke and the 200 and 500 freestyles. She has produced top-18 finishes in all three events at each of the past three Big Ten Championships.

Haebig has also qualified for the 2021 Olympic Trials in the 100-meter back, 200-meter freestyle and 400 freestyle. Her times in the 100 back (1:01.91) and the 400 free (4:14.96) are both long course school records.

A workhouse for the Huskers, Haebig also swam legs on Nebraska's 400 and 800 free relays and 200 and 400 medley relays at the 2020 Big Ten Championships.

While Haebig continued to elevate her impressive career in 2020, Coffey and Coughlen produced breakthrough campaigns.

Coughlen, a 2021 senior from Frisco, Texas, smashed the school record with her time of 1:55.78 in the 200 fly and captured CSCAA All-America honors. She qualified for the NCAA Championships in both the 200 fly and 400 IM after finishing sixth in the 200 fly at the 2020 Big Ten Championships. In addition to posting Nebraska's top times in both the 200 IM (2:02.91) and 400 IM (4:13.02), Coughlen also competed for the Huskers in the 800 free relay and the 400 medley relay at the Big Ten meet.

As a sophomore in 2020, Coffey became a force for the Huskers. After setting a long-course school record in the 1,500 meter (16:48.76) at Speedo Summer Sectionals in Jenks, Okla., in 2019, Coffey earned a spot in the 2021 U.S. Olympic Trials.

She continued to race to faster times in the distance freestyle events throughout the season, culminating with a school-record 1,000-yard split of 9:48.15. She punched her ticket to the 2020 NCAA Championships with an eighth-place finish in the 1,650 free at the Big Ten Championships. Her personal-record 1,650 free time of 16:18.56 was nearly 16 seconds faster than her best mark as a freshman, and earned her 2020 CSCAA All-America honors.

In addition to the Big Red's returning All-Americans in the pool, the Huskers have several senior swimmers capable of taking their performances to the national level.

Four-time All-American Abi Knapton returns to diving competition for the Huskers in 2020-21 after redshirting in 2019-20.

TALENTED BIG RED PREPARE FOR SHORT SEASON

Senior Izzie Murray, a team co-captain as a junior, could hunt for a spot at nationals while being a leader at the conference level. Murray is expected to join Coughlen in competing for All-Big Ten honors in the 200 fly. Both have finished in the top eight in the Big Ten and own the top two times in school history in the event. Murray also held NU's top time in the 100 fly last season, finishing in the top 24 at the Big Ten meet.

Rachel Powers, a 2021 senior from Sun Prairie, Wis., also has produced impressive gains during her career in the distance freestyle events. Powers finished 15th (16:36.40) at the 2020 Big Ten Championships, slashing nearly 13 seconds off her previous career best.

Junior Katelyn Kilpatrick (21st), sophomore Molly Rosenthal (24th) and junior Maggie Berning (28th) add to a deep and hard-working group of Huskers who could be in position to score at the Big Ten meet in the 1,650 free.

Senior Jessica Pentlarge, who posted Nebraska's top returning time (2:00.05) in the 200 backstroke last year, could be in position to help the Huskers at the 2021 Big Ten meet.

Pentlarge and fellow backstroker Autumn Haebig also will gain an accomplished training partner in Madesyn Ronquillio. The junior transfer from Boise State was an All-Mountain West Conference performer in both the 100 (8th) and 200 backstrokes (5th) last season. Her personal-best time of 54.09 in the 100 back last season was just 0.8 seconds off Haebig's top time in 2020. Ronquillio's top time in the 200 back (1:57.55) was 2.30 faster than NU's best time last season and would have been good for a top-16 finish at the 2020 Big Ten Championships.

Ronquillio and American Athletic All-Conference swimmer Shannon Stott could also add talented competitors in the butterfly events for the Huskers, alongside Murray, Coughlen and sophomores Kaitlyn Barth and Kimberly Lanaghen. Stott, who transferred from East Carolina after the Pirates dropped their program, finished third in the 200 fly at the 200 AAC meet with a career-best time of 1:58.51. That time would have been NU's second-fastest in 2020 behind only the All-American Coughlen. It also would have been a top-16 time in the Big Ten. Overall, Stott produced six top-16 individual finishes in just two seasons at the AAC meet.

All-American Audrey Coffey set the Nebraska record in the 1,000-yard freestyle in 2020, while posting the second-fastest time in school history in the 1,650 free.

Barth posted Nebraska's No. 2 time in the 100 fly (54.67) last season, while adding the Huskers' top time in the 50 free (23.58). The six-time Wisconsin state champion could be poised for significant gains in her second season.

Lanaghen posted NU's No. 4 times in both the 100 and 200 fly last year, including a 27th-place finish in the 200 fly at the Big Ten Championships.

Another sophomore, three-time Nebraska state champion Berkeley Livingston, could be ready for significant gains in her second season. Livingston clocked Nebraska's No. 2 time in the 400 IM (4:19.80) last season, while adding NU's No. 3 time in the 200 IM (2:04.22). She could be in position to score for the Huskers in both events at the 2021 Big Ten meet.

While Nebraska returns its most talented and deepest group of swimmers in recent years, the Huskers also feature a class of four true freshmen scholarship swimmers who could be asked to make immediate contributions.

Freshman breaststroker Ella Stein could help fill the void left by the graduations of NU's top 2020 breaststrokers Tori Beeler and Gwen Worlton.

Stein (Hudson, Wis.) swam a career-best of 1:02.98 in the 100 breast on her way to a third-place finish at the 2020 Minnesota Senior State Championships. Stein will also own Nebraska's best time (2:16.90) in the 200 breast as she enters the Husker program.

Sarah Barton, a freshman from Huntersville, N.C., may help replace Beeler's 2020 contributions in the individual medley events. Barton owns a top time of 2:03.55 in the 200 IM, which trails only Coughlen among returning Huskers. Barton's best time of 4:29.03 in the 400 IM trails only Coughlen and Livingston among returning NU swimmers. However, Barton's greatest impact could come in the 200 back, where her career-best time of 1:58.79 would have led the Huskers a year ago. Her 100 back time of of 56.57 trails only Haebig among returning Huskers and puts Barton in position to push Ronquillio and Haebig in training.

Caitlyn Cairns could also make an instant impact in the sprint freestyle events and relays. Cairns captured the 2020 Colorado High School Class 3A state title in the 50 free in a career-best 23.09, which would have been Nebraska's top time in 2020. She added a second state championship in the 100 fly while posting a career-best 55.17, which would have been NU's No. 4 time last season. Cairns' career-best 51.18 in the 100 free trails only Haebig among returning Huskers.

Lexi Kucera, who was the Minnesota State High School Class A champion in the 100 fly in 2019, could also help Cairns form the future of the Huskers in the event. Kucera owns a career-best 55.57 in the 100 fly. She also carries a career best of 50.99 in the 100 free, which trails only Haebig among returning Huskers. Kucera's career-best 1:50.18 in the 200 free would have been among NU's top five last season in the event.

2020-21 (OUTLOOK)

The most decorated diver in Nebraska history, Abi Knapton returns to lead the Huskers in the well and in the classroom after taking a redshirt season in 2019-20. A four-time All-American, Knapton is expected to compete for All-America honors again as a fifth-year senior in 2020-21. Knapton hopes to become the first Husker swimmer or diver ever to be a four-time first-team All-American in the same event (platform). Knapton is also a three-time first-team CSCAA Scholar All-American and a three-time Big Ten Distinguished Scholar.

2019-20 (REDSHIRT)

Knapton was selected as one of three captains alongside Autumn Haebig and Izzie Murray for the Huskers in 2019-20, before choosing to take a redshirt season. In the classroom, Knapton was a Big Ten Distinguished Scholar and Academic All-Big Ten choice for the third consecutive year.

2018-19 (JUNIOR)

Knapton, a four-time All-American, put together her best season yet, firmly establishing herself as the best diver in Nebraska history. At the 2019 NCAA Championships, Knapton dove to fifth place on the platform with a finals score of 316.75. It marked her third consecutive first-team All-America award on the platform. She added an honorable-mention All-America award with her 15th-place finish on the three-meter board. She posted a final score of 639.10 (333.90 carried over from prelims). Knapton became the first four-time All-America diver in Nebraska history and the first Husker diver to earn All-America honors three times in the same event. Knapton also became the first Husker to earn two All-America awards at the same NCAA Championship meet since Elvira Fischer won a pair of honors in the breaststroke events in 2001. Knapton's outstanding junior season made her a finalist for the Nebraska Outstanding Female Athlete of the Year Award across all sports.

Knapton qualified for her third consecutive NCAA Championships by winning the platform competition at the NCAA Zone D Diving meet. She added a ninth-place finish on the three-meter board. She also placed 21st on the one-meter board at the zone diving competition. At the 2019 Big Ten Championships, Knapton captured All-Big

She took fifth on the three-meter board and added a sixth-place showing on the one meter, setting a career best with a 323.70 on the one meter at the Big Ten Championships.

She captured an impressive victory at the CAMO International Diving Invite on the platform board, before adding a runner-up finish on the three-meter board. Knapton represented the Huskers at the USA Winter Diving Trials, taking fifth on the platform and 12th on the three-meter board. She swept the platform and three-meter events at the Wally Nakamoto Invite.

A three-time first-team CSCAA Scholar All-American, Knapton was named a Big Ten Distinguished Scholar for the second time. She also claimed an Academic All-Big Ten selection for the second straight season. She earned a spot on the Tom Osborne Citizenship Team for the third time.

2017-18 (SOPHOMORE)

Knapton became the first diver in Nebraska history to capture first-team All-America honors in back-to-back seasons. Knapton took eighth on the platform dive (286.15) to claim first-team All-America honors for the second straight season on the event. She added a 22nd-place finish on the three-meter board (307.60) at nationals to cap another history-making season. She qualified for nationals with career bests on the platform (589.70) and on the one meter (535.85) at the NCAA Zone D Diving competition. At the Big Ten Championships, Knapton took ninth on the three meter, 10th on the platform and 26th on the one meter. Throughout the season, Knapton captured 12 individual titles and five runner-up finishes among her 19 top-five showings. Also an outstanding student, Knapton was named a first-team CSCAA Scholar All-American for the second time and was a Big Ten Distinguished Scholar and Academic All-Big Ten selection. She was also a member of the Tom Osborne Citizenship Team.

2016-17 (FRESHMAN)

A first-team All-American with a fourth-place finish on the platform as a true freshman at the 2017 NCAA Championships, Knapton kicked off her diving career strong with 17 top-five finishes, including three victories as a freshman for the Huskers in 2016-17. Knapton notched a victory at the 2017 NCAA Zone D Diving Meet in platform with a total of 553.00. She qualified for the 2017 NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships in the three-meter and platform dives. Knapton competed in all three dives at the Big Ten Championships, finishing 14th on platform (257.50), 11th on the one-meter dive (285.60) and ninth on three meter (337.35). She set two season bests at Illinois in both the one-meter (294.98) for a runner-up finish and in the three meter (343.12) to capture her first dual victory. She also finished second on platform at the Jean Freeman Invite with a season-best 318.70. Knapton earned spots on the Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll both semesters.

The junior from Naperville, Ill., also swam to an eighth-place finish at the Big Ten Championships. Coffey's improvements in the pool from her freshman to sophomore season were impressive, and her academic efforts were also exceptional as a first-team CSCAA Scholar All-American and a Big Ten Distinguished Scholar.

2019-20 (SOPHOMORE)

Coffey produced a breakthrough season by qualifying for the 2020 NCAA Championships and earning CSCAA All-America honors in the 1,650-yard freestyle. Her 1,650 time at the conference meet was the No. 2 performance in school history. Coffey added a 30th-place finish in a career-best time of 4:50.52 in the 500 free at the Big Ten Championships and finished 37th in a career-best 1:48.91 in the 200 free at the conference meet. During the course of the season, Coffey produced 12 top-five individual finishes, including seven victories. During the summer of 2019, Coffey set a Nebraska school record with a long-course time of 16:48.76 in the 1,500-meter free at Speedo Summer Sectionals in Jenks, Okla., to earn a spot in the U.S. Olympic Trials. +11-Time NCAA Champion
+CoSIDA Academic All-America Hall of Fame

Pablo Morales continues to see the Nebraska swimming and diving program climb in national prominence in and out of the water in his 20th season leading the Husker program.

In 2020, three Husker swimmers (Audrey Coffey, Madison Coughlen, Autumn Haibig) and diver Sara Troyer qualified for the NCAA Championships. The national meet was ultimately canceled due to the world-wide outbreak of the coronavirus, but the four Huskers combined for five CSCAA All-America awards. With the expected return of four-time NCAA All-America diver Abi Knapton and 2019 NCAA-qualifying diver Jessica Warak, who both redshirted in 2020, the Huskers anticipate having six returning NCAA qualifiers for the 2020-21 season.

In 2019, Nebraska captured its fourth consecutive top-40 finish at the NCAA Championships by taking 33rd. Knapton solidified her place as the greatest diver in Nebraska history by capturing her third consecutive first-team All-America honor on the platform, while adding an honorable-mention accolade in the three-meter dive.

As a team, the Huskers produced their best conference finish since joining the Big Ten in 2012, and Husker swimmers posted 23 NCAA B qualifying standards. Over the last seven seasons, Husker swimmers have set 19 school records. Fans can expect records to keep falling in 2020.

In 2018, Nebraska finished 35th at the NCAA Championships, as Knapton captured first-team All-America honors on the platform for the second straight season. She was joined at the NCAA Championships by swimmer Autumn Haebig.

The Big Red took 33rd at nationals in 2017, when Knapton finished fourth on platform to capture her first All-America award.

In 2016, the Huskers finished 39th at the NCAA Championships, which included a 10th-place finish on the one-meter board by Anna Filipcic. The Huskers have sent at least one diver to the NCAA Championships in six consecutive seasons.

While the diving program has climbed to national prominence, the Huskers have elevated their talent across all events as they enter their 10th season in the Big Ten in 2020-21.

Nebraska's rise in the pool and the diving well has occurred while maintaining elite performances in the classroom. In 2019, Lindsay Helferich captured second-team CoSIDA Academic All-America honors after closing her career with a perfect 4.0 GPA as a civil engineering major. She became the third Husker swimmer to contribute to Nebraska's nation-leading total of 340 CoSIDA Academic All-Americans all time across all sports.

A total of seven Huskers who have combined for 11 CSCAA Scholar All-America awards in their careers return to the Nebraska roster in 2020-21. Nebraska posted a program-record 3.747 GPA in the spring of 2020 to earn CSCAA Scholar All-America recognition as a team. It marked the 12th straight semester that Nebraska has been honored by the CSCAA and the 16th consecutive semester the Huskers have posted better than a 3.2 team GPA. In fact, the swimming and diving program owned the best GPA of any Nebraska team for three consecutive seasons (2015, 2016, 2017) to win the school's Herman Team GPA Award.

Nebraska's increased competitiveness in the pool and impressive success in the classroom and community are a far cry from the starting point of the Husker program when Morales took over the job in 2001. In his first season at NU, the Huskers went winless in 2001-02 (0-3) with a depleted roster.

Three years later, NU raced to an 8-1 dual record in 2004-05 and became the first Husker swimming and diving team in school history to win eight consecutive meets. Most importantly, Morales led the Huskers out of the bottom of the Big 12 with a fourth-place finish in 2004 and a third-place showing in 2005. Nebraska has continued to pursue a climb in conference prominence as it has transitioned to the Big Ten.

The Huskers hope to regain the national prowess they enjoyed in the 1990s, when they captured five Big Eight and Big 12 titles from 1994 to 1999.

A 1987 graduate of Stanford University, Morales is one of the greatest male swimmers in U.S. history, winning an NCAA-record 11 individual titles. He also helped lead the Cardinal to three consecutive NCAA titles and four Pac-10 titles, while twice earning Pac-10 Swimmer-of-the-Year honors and garnering six Pac-10 titles himself.

Morales remains the all-time leading scorer at the NCAA Championships, amassing 235 points. Morales was also the recipient of the 1987 Al Masters Award, which is Stanford's highest award for athletic performance, leadership and academic performance. He was the first male swimmer to win the award, and remains one of two to have accomplished that feat. Morales holds the Stanford record in the 200-yard butterfly (1:42.60) and held the school record in the 100-yard fly (46.25) until it was broken in 1998 by Sabir Muhammad (46.18).

While at Stanford, Morales was awarded the J.E. Sterling Award, which is presented to a student-athlete based on scholarship, leadership and community service. In addition, he served as the director of the Stanford Volunteers for Youth Program. Morales also found time to become a mainstay on the campus newspaper as the beat writer for the women's basketball team.

A CoSIDA Academic All-America selection in 1987, Morales earned a law degree from Cornell in June of 1994, despite taking two years off from law school to train and compete at the Olympics.

An Olympic swimmer, Morales won three gold and two silver medals in the 1984 and 1992 Games, serving as a team captain for the 1992 squad. Following the 1992 Games, in which he returned to the pool after a three-year layoff to capture a gold medal in the 100-meter butterfly, Morales was named the U.S. Olympic Committee's Sportsman of the Year. He held the U.S. Open and NCAA record in the 100-yard fly with a time of 46.26, which stood for 13 years before being broken at the 1999 NCAA Championships.

Among Morales' greatest swimming accomplishments in the pool is holding the world record in the 100-meter butterfly with a time of 52.84 from 1986 until 1995.

Pablo Morales was a three-time Olympic gold medalist and two-time silver medalist at the 1984 (Los Angeles) and 1992 (Barcelona) Summer Games.

Gold	1984 Los Angeles	4x100m Medley
Gold	1992 Barcelona	100m Butterfly
Gold	1992 Barcelona	4x100m Butterfly
Silver	1984 Los Angeles	100m Butterfly
Silver	1984 Los Angeles	200m Medley

Morales' legend in the Olympic Games lives on today, as the Nebraska coach served on the bid committee for the 2008 U.S. Olympic swimming trials that took place in Omaha. Morales had the chance to see the selection process and serve a role in the decision that gave Nebraska its first Olympic event in state history.

The Swimming Trials were a resounding success, and Omaha proved to be a worthy host for the event. More than 160,000 fans attended the event, shattering the previous mark by more than 50,000. In 2016, the U.S. Olympic Trials made their third consecutive appearance at the CenturyLink Center in Omaha, and more than 200,000 fans sold out every session of the event.

Before coming to Nebraska, Morales served as the head women's swimming coach at San Jose State University. He held the reins as head coach from 1998 until being named coach at Nebraska in July of 2001. Morales rejuvenated a Spartan program that was near the bottom of the Western Athletic Conference. He was named the 2000 WAC Coach of the Year for his efforts.

While at San Jose State, Morales rebuilt a program and took the Spartans to the NCAA Championships after a 14-year absence. During his tenure, Morales produced six academic All-WAC swimmers. At the 2001 WAC Championships, five Spartans set school records under Morales' supervision, and three met NCAA qualification times. Seven others swam times that placed among the top three in school history.

Before his stint at SJSU, Morales was an assistant at his alma mater, Stanford, in 1997-98, helping lead the squad to the NCAA team title.

Morales also served as a graduate assistant at Cornell while pursuing his law degree. While at Cornell, Morales prepared and coached daily workouts for swimmers and assisted in recruiting. Morales has assisted in coaching with the San Jose Aquatics club group, as well as serving as head coach of the Stanford Masters Swim Team.

For Morales, the opportunity to coach at Nebraska was a welcome challenge.

"As a coach, taking over the responsibilities at Nebraska represents a great opportunity to take a program with success and use the resources that only Nebraska can offer, the support from the athletic department, the University, the Lincoln area and the state, to take the program to a higher level," Morales said after he was hired. "Our goal is to take this program to the elite national level."

A powerful motivator, Morales hopes to keep his swimmers on the top of their games in and out of the pool, as Nebraska has established itself among the nation's best in academic support and athletics. Over the past nine seasons, nearly 80 percent of Morales' student-athletes have been named to the conference or Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll each semester.

"I want our swimmers to achieve their goals of faster times and lifetime bests," Morales said. "I want them to have the best season that they have ever had, and I also want us to establish a team atmosphere and build an excitement toward Husker swimming and diving."

Former Stanford Head Coach Skip Kenny, who coached Morales at Stanford and also with Team USA, spoke highly of his former pupil.

"He's one of the most honest people that you will meet," Kenny said. "You will always get the truth out of him. He's very dedicated to the sport of swimming and to his athletes.

"As soon as the swimmers spend a few days or weeks with him, they will see how much he cares about them and the sport of swimming."

Kenny said Morales may have greater potential as a coach than swimmer.

"I honestly believe that he is a better coach than he was a swimmer, and that is saying a lot since he was one of the best swimmers in the world. He has done things with kids that I thought I would never see. If there is a female swimmer out there that wants to be the best in the world, I'd send her to swim for Pablo."

Morales' experiences as an NCAA and international swimmer, and a club and collegiate coach helps him in coaching and recruiting.

"In my experiences, I have been fortunate to have had a long career as a competitor. I was able to train with coaches who I think are some of the best in the world," Morales said. "I have learned from them, and I have learned from myself. I believe that all of my experiences have prepared me for coaching. I have a good feel for the contours of teams that are successful. I know how they practice, train and compete."

In July of 2012, Morales named Patrick Rowan as an assistant coach. A Nebraska native with a long-time association with the Husker program, Rowan spent five years at Missouri before returning to Lincoln. In five seasons, Rowan helped Mizzou climb from 38th at the 2008 NCAA Championships to 14th in the final standings in 2012. He also played a major role in bringing multiple top-20 recruiting classes to Missouri.

"We were very excited to have Patrick come back to Nebraska," Morales said. "He brings extensive and successful coaching and recruiting experience at the collegiate level. Patrick has a tremendous work ethic and an unmatched passion for Nebraska."

Morales named former Olympian Natasha Chikina as the head diving coach in June of 2005. Through 13 seasons, she has guided Husker divers to 39 NCAA Zone appearances and at least one Husker diver has competed at the NCAA Championships for six consecutive seasons.

"She brings outstanding technical expertise combined with a tremendous coaching demeanor that yields fabulous results at the Division I level," Morales said. "She is the perfect fit to build on the success of her predecessors here at Nebraska and be part of our development into a championship-level program."

"My job is to instill confidence in a swimmer and teach her to expect a higher level of performance from herself. I want each swimmer to open her mind to what is possible. I want her to strive to exceed what she has done in the past each and every day. I want her to expect that more is possible."

Coach Morales' Philosophy

A gifted and noted public speaker and lecturer, Morales was a contributing author to The Swim Coaching Bible, published in 2001. In April of 2007, he was chosen as the U.S. Swimming Diversity Select Camp Head Coach, a four-day camp at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. Aside from in-pool training, Morales also led motivational and educational sessions and team-building activities for boys and girls from all over the nation. These children were a part of an ethnically under-represented population that is less than 20 percent of the current USA Swimming membership.

Pablo is the son of Pedro and the late Blanca Morales, who came to the United States from Cuba in 1956. Pablo and his wife, Viviana, have four boys, Sam (22), Benjamin (19), Eli (17) and Gustavo (10).

Morales was born in Chicago and grew up in Santa Clara, Calif. He enjoys golfing in his spare time.

Patrick Rowan is in his ninth season as Nebraska's associate head coach, helping the Huskers continue to build a nationally competitive women's swimming and diving program.

In 2019-20, Rowan helped three Husker swimmers earn CSCAA All-America honors with school-record-setting performances from Madison Coughlen (200 fly), Audrey Coffey (1,650 free) and Autumn Haebig (200 free). All three 2020 NCAA qualifiers are expected to return to lead the Huskers in the pool in 2020-21.

Rowan, who returned to Nebraska after spending five years as an assistant coach at Missouri, helped the Tigers become one of the nation's top-15 programs during his time in Columbia (2008-12).

The graduate of Lincoln Southeast High School and former Husker volunteer assistant coach returned to the Big Red for the 2012-13 season and has helped the Huskers produce four consecutive top-40 team finishes at the NCAA Championships.

"Patrick brings extensive and successful coaching and recruiting experience at the collegiate level," Nebraska Coach Pablo Morales said. "Patrick has a tremendous work ethic and an unmatched passion for Nebraska. He has made a major impact on our program and plays a key role in helping us achieve our Big Ten Conference and NCAA goals."

An excellent recruiter, Rowan has helped the Huskers raise their talent level in recent years. In 2019-20, Nebraska's roster featured a pair of state high school swimmers of the year in Autumn Haebig (Wisconsin, 2017) and Berkeley Livingston (Nebraska, 2019). The Husker roster also features 10 high school state individual champions from six states [Florida, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska (3), Ohio, Wisconsin (3)].

In 2018-19, Rowan helped Nebraska claim its best Big Ten finish since joining the conference in 2012. He was also instrumental in helping Husker swimmers post 23 NCAA B qualifying times.

In Rowan's first seven seasons at Nebraska, Husker swimmers set 19 school records across all events, and those records kept falling in 2019-20.

In 2017-18, Rowan helped 14-time Wisconsin high school state champion Autumn Haebig earn her first trip to the NCAA Championships as a true freshman. Haebig, who finished 10th in the 100 backstroke and 12th in the 200 freestyle at the 2018 Big Ten Championships, closed her season with a 40th-place NCAA finish in the 100 back. She added a 43rd-place showing in the 500 free at the NCAA meet. Haebig set career bests in all three of those events late in the season at either the Big Ten Championships or the NCAA Last Chance meet, when she posted a 52.29 in the 100 back.

In 2018, SwimSwam.com ranked the Nebraska swimming and diving program No. 1 in the nation for recruiting, retention and improvement among all NCAA Division I women's programs.

In 2017-18, the Husker swimmers produced 26 NCAA B qualifying standards, which represented an increase in that total for the sixth consecutive season for Nebraska.

In 2016, six Huskers qualified for the U.S. Olympic Trials, while two more international swimmers qualified for their trials.

In 2016-17, Erin Oeltjen set a school record in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke, while Dana Posthuma notched the second-best time in school history in the 200-yard butterfly (1:58.16).

In 2014-15, Rowan guided the 200-yard freestyle relay to the second-best time in school history at the Big Ten Championships.

In Rowan's second season at NU (2013-14), he helped 14 swimmers to personal bests in the sprint freestyle events.

Rowan served as Nebraska's primary sprint freestyle coach in 2012-13. He saw the 200- and 400-yard freestyle relay teams swim school-record times at the 2013 Big Ten Championships. Taryn Collura swam a school record in the 50-yard freestyle and became the first Husker to qualify for the NCAA Championships in six years.

A Nebraska native, Rowan helped orchestrate a steady rise into national prominence at Missouri. In his first season at MU, Rowan helped the Tiger women's team finish 38th at the 2008 NCAA Championships. After a 28th-place showing in 2009, the Tigers climbed to 23rd in 2011 before finishing 14th at the 2012 NCAA meet.

Rowan served as the power sprints coach while also working with the middle distance group at Missouri. He was the recruiting coordinator for the Tiger men's program while assisting with recruiting on the women's side. The Tiger men's 2011 recruiting class was ranked seventh nationally by collegeswimming.com, while the women's class was ranked 18th. He served as the director of the Mizzou Swim Camp and coached the Mizzou Swim Team (USA Swimming Club).

In addition to serving as a volunteer assistant at Nebraska in 2006-07, Rowan was a long-time coach in the Nebraska Aquatics program.

From 2002 until 2007, Rowan served as the head coach and general manager of the Nebraska Aquatics swim team, where he was the primary coach of the high school and collegiate swimmers. He also served as an age group coach for swimmers from ages 6 to 24 for Nebraska Aquatics from 2000 to 2002.

From 2003 to 2007, he served as the age group chairman for the Midwestern Swimming Executive Board. He was named Midwestern Swimming Coach of the Year in 2006-07, after being named its Age Group Coach of the Year in 2004-05.

A competitive swimmer from 1985 to 2001, Rowan swam collegiately at Eastern Michigan, helping EMU to a pair of Mid-American Conference championships. Individually, he was a 12-time finalist at the MAC Championships for the Eagles.

As a prep swimmer at Lincoln Southeast, Rowan was a two-time Nebraska Class A state champion and a member of a state championship team for the Knights. He was also a team captain and a seven-time Junior National qualifier.

Rowan, who earned his bachelor's degree in psychology from Eastern Michigan in 2000, received his master's degree in education with an emphasis in school and counseling psychology/sport psychology from Missouri in 2009. He is currently pursuing a Ph.D. with a similar emphasis in sport psychology.

He and his wife, Miranda, have a two daughters, Reese and Quinn, and a son, Luke.

+NCAA All-American (1997, 1998)
+Fourth on Platform (NCAA Championships, 1998)
+Pac-10 Three-Meter Diving Champion (1997, 1998)

Former Olympian Natasha Chikina (chick-EE-nuh) is entering her 15th season as Nebraska's head diving coach in 2020-21.

Chikina has helped Nebraska rise among the nation's top diving programs.

The Husker divers have claimed at least one All-America award in five consecutive trips to the NCAA Championships, while sending at least one diver to the national meet in seven straight seasons.

"As a coach, my job is to recognize the highest potential of each diver," Chikina said. "I want to make them believe in themselves by creating a positive and goal-setting environment. With hard work, discipline and encouragement, I want to bring every one of them to their highest level of performance."

In 2019, Abi Knapton solidified her spot as greatest collegiate diver in Nebraska history by capturing her third straight first-team All-America award on the platform. Knapton, who will be a fifth-year senior at Nebraska in 2020-21, finished fifth on platform in 2019, after an eighth-place finish in 2018 and a fourth-place performance in 2017. She added an honorable-mention All-America award in the three-meter dive in 2019, becoming the first Husker diver in history to win two All-America honors at the same NCAA Championship.

In 2019, freshman diver Jessica Warak joined Knapton in competition at the NCAA Championships, taking 22nd on the platform.

With Knapton and Warak both redshirting in 2019-20, Sara Troyer stepped into the spotlight by earning CSCAA All-America honors on both the one- and three-meter boards. Troyer's emergence could give the Big Red three returning NCAA-qualifying divers in 2020-21.

In 2017, Knapton became the first freshman diver in school history to earn first-team All-America honors. She was also named Nebraska's Outstanding Female Newcomer across all sports for her diving performances during the season.

In 2015-16, Anna Filipcic earned honorable-mention All-America accolades for finishing 10th on the one-meter board at the 2016 NCAA Championships. Filipcic qualified for the NCAA Championships all four years (2014-17) of her illustrious career for the Big Red. Filipcic was also a two-time Big Ten Conference runner-up, accomplishing the feat on the one-meter board in 2016 and the three-meter dive in 2017.

In 2020-21, Chikina will try to help Knapton, Troyer and Warak, along with senior Grace Tiernon, junior Hallie Roman and redshirt freshman Reagan Hinze develop into the best diving unit in Husker history.

The young Husker diving group will try to add to Nebraska's list of accomplishments under Chikina, which includes 40 appearances at the NCAA Zone diving meet over the past 14 years.

Chikina's coaching career at Nebraska followed a successful diving career at the University of Southern California and competition at two summer Olympic Games.

Chikina, a native of Kazakhstan, competed at the Atlanta (1996) and Sydney (2000) Summer Olympic Games. Chikina finished 15th at the Atlanta Games, before capturing a ninth-place finish on the 10-meter platform in Sydney.

Between competitions, Chikina placed fourth on platform at the 1998 NCAA Championships for the University of Southern California. She earned NCAA All-America honors in 1997 and 1998. She was also the Pac-10 champion on the three-meter springboard in 1997 and 1998.

Chikina competed at the Goodwill Games (1994), the World Championships (1994-96) and the FINA Grand Prix (2000), placing as high as third in both the World Championships and FINA Grand Prix.

Following her diving career as an athlete, Chikina immediately began her quest to become a head diving coach. She was the assistant coach of the Trojan Diving Club from 1998 to 2001, coaching two Junior Olympic national champions, and the assistant diving coach at her alma mater, USC, in 1998-99, helping coach future Olympians Troy Dumais and Dorte Linder.

From 2001 to 2005, Chikina served as the assistant head coach at the U.S. Diving Regional Training Center where she took on many responsibilities. Primarily, she coached a two-time Oklahoma state high school champion, two Junior Olympic National Team members and four Junior Olympic National qualifiers. Among her other responsibilities, Chikina scouted, recruited and judged competitions up to the national level. She also scheduled team trips, camps and programs. Chikina coached at the 2003 U.S. Diving National Training Camp, instructing junior national-level athletes in the spotting belt, trampoline and dryboard.

Chikina earned her bachelor's degree in social science and communications from USC in 1999, after completing her physical education and coaching degree from the Kazakh Institute of Physical Education in Almaty, Kazakhstan, in 1996.

Natasha and her husband, Kris, moved to Lincoln in the summer of 2005. Kris served as a volunteer assistant for the Husker diving team in 2005-06 and is now coaching for the Nebraska Diving Club. The couple has two daughters, Katerina and Sophia.

Honor the past. Live the present. Create the future.

Nine simple words that carry impressive significance and undeniable responsibility. Words that Nebraska's new athletic director uses to lead his programs and set the tone for building champions in competition and in life.

William H. (Bill) Moos was named Nebraska's Athletic Director on Oct. 15, 2017, and fully assumed those responsibilities on Oct. 23.

Moos, who became the 15th athletic director in the history of the storied Cornhusker program, brought nearly 25 years of experience as an athletic director at three Division I schools (Washington State, Oregon, Montana) with him to Nebraska. More importantly, he brings an impressive track record of success in building outstanding programs, developing long-term relationships, and for doing what is best for his schools, its fans and most importantly, its student-athletes.

"When you name the top three, four, five athletic programs in the great positions as an athletic director, Nebraska is in that same breath," Moos said at his introductory press conference at Memorial Stadium. "I want you to know that my motto has always been, in the 25 years I have been a Division I athletic director and it will be here too is very simple - honor the past, live the present, create the future."

In his first six months at Nebraska, Moos made three coaching hires. He drew universal praise for hiring Scott Frost, the 2017 consensus national coach of the year, as Nebraska's head football coach in December. Following the spring semester, Moos also hired Mark Hankins to coach the men's golf team and Sean Maymi to lead the men's tennis program.

Nebraska made national headlines with the hiring of Fred Hoiberg as its new men's basketball coach in 2019. Moos made another impact move with the hiring of former Husker Will Bolt to lead the baseball program, after Major League All-Star, Gold Glove award winner and World Series champion Darin Erstad stepped down from his head coaching position after leading the Huskers to the 2019 NCAA Tournament.

Moos hired Lisa Johnson to lead the women's golf program after the retirement of long-time coach Robin Krapfl. He also hired long-time Husker assistant Paul Klempa to guide the nationally dominant bowling program after the retirement of the legendary Bill Straub, who led the program to five NCAA titles since 2004.

Former Husker national champions Heather Brink (women's gymnastics) and Rachel Martin (rifle) were also hired by Moos to lead those national championship-contending programs.

In competition, the Nebraska volleyball team claimed the 2017 NCAA title just months after Moos was hired, before adding an NCAA runner-up finish in 2018. Both the men's and women's gymnastics teams finished in the top six at the 2018 NCAA Championships, before the men added a third-place team finish in 2019 - its best team showing since 1999. The bowling team added top-three national finishes in 2018 and 2019, while the wrestling team has produced top-10 NCAA finishes both seasons. The women's basketball team made the NCAA Tournament in 2018, while the baseball team advanced to NCAA Tournament play in 2019.

Nebraska also has continued its excellence in the classroom, producing 11 CoSIDA Academic All-Americans over the last three years, bringing NU's nation-leading total to 340 all-time CoSIDA Academic All-Americans across all sports.

Moos came to Lincoln after spending seven-plus years at Washington State (2010-17). He previously served 12 highly successful seasons as the athletic director at Oregon (1995-2007).

During his time at his alma mater, Moos wasted little time in making his impact felt in Cougar Athletics, spearheading a department-wide rebranding effort with Nike while securing a 10-year, $35 million marketing rights agreement with IMG College.

In addition, the 2004 WSU Alumni Achievement Award winner gained Regents approval for a $130 million addition and remodel of Martin Stadium, featuring a remodeled press box with luxury seating, including suites, loge boxes and club room.

Also included in the project was a state-of-the-art video board and an 80,000-square-foot football operations building that served as the stadium's showpiece and opened in May 2014.

As the dean of Pac-12 athletic directors, Moos was at the forefront of the conference's procurement of a 12-year, $3 billion television contract with FOX and ESPN, a landmark agreement in college athletics. Under Moos' direction, the Cougar Athletic Fund's Annual Giving program saw an 81 percent increase in gifts while CAF donor members rose from nearly 4,000 to more than 7,500.

Additional facility enhancements under Moos included a center-hung video board in Beasley Coliseum that was installed prior to the 2011-12 season, giving Cougar basketball one of the premier fan experiences in the conference. An indoor golf hitting facility was also completed in early 2013, and Lower Soccer Field underwent a major renovation making the venue TV-ready while also providing one of the best playing surfaces on the West Coast, along with the addition of lights and a new scoreboard.

Other enhancements were made to the Moobery track facility, Bailey-Brayton Field, the basketball practice gym, Gibb Pool and the Simmelink Indoor tennis courts. In Moos' seven years at WSU, Cougar student-athletes and coaches accounted for 805 academic all-conference selections, 130 all-conference accolades, 45 All-America honors and three Pac-12 Coach-of-the-Year honors.

Moos served as Oregon's director of athletics from July of 1995 to 2007. While at Oregon he oversaw a 17-sport athletic department that grew to national prominence during his tenure. Oregon's annual athletic department budget grew from $18.5 million in his first year to more than $40 million by 2007, becoming 100 percent self-sufficient during that time. Under his direction the Duck Athletic Fund donor base increased from 4,930 to 12,290, resulting in an annual gifts increase from $4.1 million to $15.3 million.

Moos initiated more than $160 million in facility improvements while at Oregon. Included in that was the $90 million Autzen Stadium renovation in 2002, which added 12,000 new seats, 32 new suites, a new Club at Autzen and a new press box to the stadium. In his 12 years, the Ducks ranked first in Pac-10 football attendance 11 times, reaching 100 percent capacity in each of those seasons.

During Moos' tenure, Oregon athletics captured 13 Pac-10 championships across six different sports. He increased opportunities for women by adding two intercollegiate programs, soccer and lacrosse, and negotiated an all-inclusive shoe and apparel contract with Nike, one of only 14 in the country at the time. From an academic standpoint during Moos' tenure, Oregon student-athletes collected 722 academic all-conference selections, 34 Academic All-America selections, nine NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship recipients and one NCAA Top Ten Award.

During his first stint as a collegiate athletic director at Montana (1990-95), Moos created an academic support program and hired its first athletic academic coordinator, developed a facility enhancement plan that created more than $4 million in improvements, and lifted the school's fund-raising efforts to show a 300 percent increase in private and corporate gifts.

Academically, Montana student-athletes were equally successful as the athletic department achieved a graduation rate 20 percent higher than the general university enrollment. Under Moos' watch Montana garnered 269 academic all-conference selections, five Academic All-Americans and two NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship recipients.

Moos began his athletic career as an athletic administrator in 1982 as assistant athletic director at Washington State. He also served as the school's associate athletic director (1988-90).

At Washington State, he was director of development for more than five years and associate director for nearly two years, supervising all external operations. Prior to that, he managed and owned private businesses in Washington and Oregon for eight years. He was a student assistant football coach at Washington State for the 1973 season, then spent part of 1974 in Washington, D.C., serving as a government intern.

Raised on a wheat and cattle ranch in eastern Washington, Moos attended high school in Olympia when his father served in the governor's cabinet. Moos earned his bachelor's degree in history from WSU and was a three-year letterman in football before concluding his collegiate career by representing Washington State in the 1972 East-West Shrine All-Star Game in San Francisco.

He served as co-captain on the Cougars' 1972 squad and garnered first-team All-Pac-8 Conference honors. Moos and his wife Kendra have three daughters: Christa, Brittany and Kaiti; and two sons, Bo and Benjamin.

TED CARTER

University of Nebraska President First Season

Walter "Ted" Carter, Jr. began his term as the University of Nebraska's eighth president on Jan. 1, 2020. Carter, 60, served as superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., from 2014 to 2019, the longest continuously serving superintendent in Annapolis by special request of the Secretary of the Navy and the Chief of Naval Operations. As superintendent, Carter oversaw all functions of the institution, including leadership of 4,400 students and 1,500 faculty and staff, management of a $500 million budget, and oversight of academics, facilities, admissions and policy.

He also formed the nation's first accredited cyber operations major and accredited a nuclear engineering major at the Naval Academy. During his tenure, the academy was ranked the nation's No. 1 public university by Forbes Magazine. Prior to that role, Carter was president of the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, R.I., where he led 1,600 resident students, 100,000-plus distance education students and 600 faculty and staff in graduate-level education.

Carter was a successful fundraiser in both roles, working with his foundations to raise a total of $400 million in philanthropic support for academic programs. He also worked with Congress to direct $120 million toward a new cyber operations building at the Naval Academy; the building will be named after Rear Admiral Grace Hopper, the first at any service academy to be named for a woman. Carter has extensive experience briefing members of Congress and has shared the stage at speaking events with Presidents Trump and Carter and Vice Presidents Pence, Biden and Cheney.

Carter also brings extensive military service, having graduated from the Navy Fighter Weapons School (Top Gun) in Miramar, Calif., in 1985. He was commander for the Carrier Strike Group Twelve, in which he commanded 20 ships, two nuclear-powered aircraft carriers and two carrier air wings that were deployed to Afghanistan and the Arabian Gulf. He is a naval flight officer with more than 6,300 flying hours, and has completed 2,016 carrier-arrested landings, an American record.

He currently serves as the chair of the Daugherty Water for Food Institute's Board of Directors and as a member on the Greater Omaha Chamber Board of Directors, the Nebraska State Commerce Board of Directors, and the Nebraska Medicine Board of Directors. Carter is also a member of the American Council of Presidents for the Association of Public and Land-Grant Universities and contributes as an Ex Officio member of the NU Foundation Board and Executive Committee.

The son of an English teacher, Carter was raised in Burrillville, R.I., a rural, one-high school town in the northwest corner of the state where he became an accomplished clarinetist and baritone saxophone player. He and his wife, Lynda, have two adult children, Brittany and Christopher.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE

Kevin Warren
Commissioner

Known as one of intercollegiate sports' most successful undertakings, the Big Ten is home to a lineage of legendary names and an ongoing tradition of developing strong leaders. Even in its infancy, the conference established itself as the preeminent collection of institutions in the nation, where the pursuit of academic excellence prevailed as the definitive goal.

The Big Ten is a national leader in intercollegiate athletics on and off the field, as schools have combined to win more than 450 team and 1,800 individual national championships.

The history of the Big Ten traces back nearly 125 years to the Palmer House hotel in Chicago, where on Jan. 11, 1895, then-Purdue president James H. Smart and leaders from the University of Chicago, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Northwestern and Wisconsin set out to organize and develop principles for the regulation of intercollegiate athletics.

At that meeting, a blueprint for the administration of college athletics under the direction of appointed faculty representatives was outlined. The presidents' first known action "restricted eligibility for athletics to bona fide, full-time students who were not delinquent in their studies." That important legislation, along with other legislation that followed in coming years, served as the primary building block for intercollegiate athletics.

On Feb. 8, 1896, one faculty member from each of those seven universities met at the same Palmer House and officially established the mechanics of the conference, which was officially incorporated as the "Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association" in 1905.

Indiana and Iowa became the eighth and ninth members in 1899. In 1908, Michigan briefly withdrew, and in 1912 Ohio State joined the conference, bringing its membership back to nine. Upon Michigan's return in 1917, the conference was first referred to as the "Big Ten" by media members, and that name was eventually incorporated in 1987.

As the 1900s opened, faculty representatives established rules for intercollegiate athletics that were novel for the time. As early as 1904, the faculty approved legislation that required eligible athletes to meet entrance requirements and to have completed a full year's work, along with having one year of residence.

In 1901, the first Big Ten Championship event was staged when the outdoor track and field championships were held at the University of Chicago. The debut event marked what is now a staple of conference competition. Today, the Big Ten sponsors 28 official sports, 14 for men and 14 for women, including the addition of men's ice hockey and men's and women's lacrosse over the last four years. Big Ten schools compete in a total of 42 sports, furthering the conference's commitment to broad-based programming and providing more participation opportunities than any conference in the country.

One of the conference's proudest traditions began in 1902 when Michigan faced Stanford in the Rose Bowl, the nation's first bowl game. Big Ten teams appeared in Pasadena twice before the conference signed an exclusive contract with the Tournament of Roses in 1946, making it the first bowl game with permanent conference affiliations.

Coupling the academic goals set forth by the leaders of the charter members of the conference and their steadfast commitment to athletics, the conference instituted the Big Ten Medal of Honor in 1915. It is awarded annually by each conference institution to a student of the graduating class who has attained the greatest proficiency in scholarship and athletics. For more than 100 years, it has been the most prestigious honor a student competing in Big Ten athletics can receive.

In 1922, Major John L. Griffith became the conference's first "Commissioner of Athletics." Griffith was the first of six men to assume the role of commissioner in the conference's history, followed by Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson in 1945, Bill Reed in 1961, Wayne Duke in 1971 and James E. Delany in 1989. Those five served prior to current Commissioner Kevin Warren, who assumed the role on Sept. 16, 2019. Jim Delany announced his retirement on March 4, 2019, concluding a 30-year career with the conference on Jan. 1, 2020.

After nearly 30 years with 10 members, the conference consolidated to nine schools when the University of Chicago formally withdrew its membership in 1946. Michigan State was added to the Big Ten three years later, bringing the number of affiliated conference schools to 10 once again.

In 1955, the Big Ten formulated a revenue-sharing model designed to pool all football television rights of its members and share those proceeds equally. The conference and its members continue to utilize a revenue-sharing model, dividing media rights, bowl payouts and other profits among all institutions.

While academics have always played an integral role, presidents of the Big Ten member institutions formalized the primacy of academics with the establishment of the Big Ten Academic Alliance (formerly the Committee on Institutional Cooperation) in 1958. The Big Ten Academic Alliance is an academic consortium of all Big Ten universities. Annually, the schools currently constituting the Big Ten Academic Alliance produced over $10 billion in funded research, $5 billion more than any other conference.

In one of Duke's first actions as commissioner, he oversaw the adoption of the Big Ten Advisory Commission in 1972, designed to study conference programs and make suggestions which would further Big Ten objectives. The Advisory Commission enlists former students that competed in Big Ten athletics to serve as liaisons to the NCAA's Diversity and Inclusion Department, the Big Ten Student-Athlete Advisory Commission and other organizations.

In 1981, the conference presidents and chancellors endorsed a proposal that enabled universities to affiliate their women's intercollegiate programs with the conference, and the first conference championships for women were staged that fall. The Big Ten was the first conference to voluntarily adopt male and female participation goals after launching its Gender Equity Action Plan in 1992.

In December of 1989, the conference agreed in principle to invite Penn State for membership. On June 4, 1990, the Council of Presidents officially voted to integrate Penn State into the conference, giving the Big Ten 11 members.

In 2006, the Big Ten announced the creation of the first conference-owned television network, a 20-year agreement with FOX Networks to create what would become the Big Ten Network (BTN). Launched on Aug. 30, 2007, BTN now produces more than 1,800 events across all platforms each year. BTN is in almost 60 million homes in the United States and Canada via the nation's major video providers and more than 300 additional video providers across the country. BTN is also available through the majority of OTT providers, and via the Fox Sports App, which delivers live and on-demand programming to computers, smartphones and tablets. BTN Plus streams hundreds of additional events each season.

On June 11, 2010, the Big Ten Council of Presidents/Chancellors (COP/C) approved a formal membership application by Nebraska, expanding the conference to 12 institutions. Nebraska joined the Big Ten on July 1, 2011.

The conference expanded its footprint further in 2012 when the COP/C approved formal membership applications from Maryland (Nov. 19) and Rutgers (Nov. 20). Maryland and Rutgers became official Big Ten members on July 1, 2014, giving the conference almost 9,500 students participating in intercollegiate athletics and more than 11,000 participation opportunities on 350 teams.

Since opening in the fall of 2013, the Big Ten conference center hosts more than 300 meetings annually for member institutions, Big Ten Academic Alliance (formerly CIC) related committees and coaches' groups. The headquarters also features an interactive digital museum - the Big Ten Experience – which brings the conference's storied academic and athletic history to life. For more information on the Big Ten Experience, go to bigten.org.

In June 2014, the Big Ten opened a second office in New York City, featuring both office and meeting space in Midtown Manhattan. Big Ten staff members are based in the New York City office to provide expanded coverage and service, while other conference and institutional administrators utilize the space as necessary when conducting business on the East Coast. The Big Ten and its member institutions also have access to satellite office space in Washington, D.C.

REVIEW & HISTORY

FOUR HUSKERS CAPTURE ALL-AMERICA HONORS

Audrey Coffey (1,650 free), Madison Coughlen (200 fly), Autumn Haebig (200 free) and Sara Troyer (one meter, three meter dives) combined for five CSCAA All-America awards after qualifying for the NCAA Championships as Huskers in 2020.

Despite a surprise start and ending to the season, the Nebraska swimming and diving team rewrote the school record book in a memorable 2019-20 campaign.

In a year that began with unexpected redshirt seasons for All-American Abi Knapton and fellow 2019 NCAA qualifier Jessica Warak in the diving well, the Huskers relied on outstanding leadership from their returners to train and compete with a unity of purpose and a commitment to a team-first attitude that propelled Nebraska to new levels of success.

Although the season came to an abrupt end because of the coronavirus outbreak just days before the NCAA Championships were scheduled to be held in Athens, Ga., Nebraska was able to celebrate the success of three swimmers and one diver who qualified for nationals and combined for five CSCAA All-America awards. The four qualifiers marked the most for Nebraska since 1999-2000.

"It was really an awesome and rewarding season," Nebraska Coach Pablo Morales said. "We had swimmers putting together record-setting performances, generating excitement and bringing 'wow' kind of moments all season long, especially at the Big Ten Championships. The momentum created by Autumn Haebig, Audrey Coffey and Madison Coughlen just kind of fed off itself and spread to the whole team.

"But it wasn't just the success of the three NCAA qualifiers, it was the leadership, team-building and commitment to training showed by our seniors. It was the espirit de corps of our entire distance freestyle group. It was the toughness shown by our divers led by another NCAA qualifier, Sara Troyer, even though that group was challenged by redshirts and injuries. It was the growth of the freshmen and sophomores and the number of lifetime bests produced throughout the season."

Morales, who completed his 19th season leading the Huskers in 2019-20, knows more than just a little about true success in and out of the pool. The son of Cuban immigrants, Morales was an 11-time NCAA champion and a CoSIDA Academic All-American at Stanford. He helped the Cardinal to three straight NCAA titles and earned three Olympic golds and two silvers (1984, 1992), and served as a U.S. team captain in 1992.

"The fact that we had four competitors qualify for nationals was a wonderful accomplishment. Sure, it was disappointing to have the season end like it did because of something that was way bigger than swimming. But the pride that was drawn from the accomplishments of so many members of our team is genuinely satisfying. There is also strength that comes from knowing the kind of work they put in and the results that followed."

Autumn Haebig, a junior from Grafton, Wis., captured CSCAA All-America honors in the 200-yard freestyle after qualifying for the 2020 NCAA Championships with her school-record time of 1:44.94. Her performance came on the opening leg of NU's 800 free relay, before she added a 1:44.95 to take ninth individually in the 200 free at the Big Ten meet. She was also set to swim in the 100 free and the 500 free at nationals. She finished eighth in the 500 at the Big Ten Championships and added a 16th-place finish in the 100 free in a career-best time of 49.30. Haebig also competed in three events at the 2018 NCAA Championships.

"Autumn really solidified her spot as our most accomplished swimmer," Morales said.

BIG RED SWIMMERS REWRITE RECORD BOOK

"She means so much to our team, not only as a top performer in her individual events, but also as a leadoff in four of our relays. She had an outstanding season, and we know she will be preparing for a great senior year next season."

Fellow junior Madison Coughlen secured her first berth at nationals with a school-record 1:55.78 in the 200-yard butterfly at the Big Ten Championships. Coughlen, who earned CSCAA All-America honors in the event, posted Nebraska's top individual finish at the conference meet with her sixth-place finish in the 200 fly. Coughlen (Frisco, Texas), was also set to compete in the 400 IM at nationals after racing to a career-best 4:13.02 to finish 11th at the Big Ten Championships.

"Madison has learned a lot and fully dedicated herself in all phases of her training," Morales said. "She met the challenges of her freshman year and learned from them and we started seeing her grow and mature as a sophomore. It really started to come together for her in training this year and she was able to compete at a higher level. As we watched her performances throughout the year, it was like, 'wow, there is still a lot more here.' We could see her talent really starting to show, and we know there is a lot more ahead for her."

Audrey Coffey capped Nebraska's trio of CSCAA All-America swimmers by qualifying for the NCAA meet in the 1,650-yard freestyle. The sophomore from Naperville, Ill., raced to an eighth-place finish at the Big Ten Championships in a time of 16:18.56 - the second-fastest time in school history. It also represented nearly a 16-second improvement over her time in the same event at the conference meet in 2019. Coffey also shattered the school record in the 1,000-yard free with a time of 9:48.15.

"Audrey went on a quest to make the Olympic Trials starting at the end of last season. She accomplished that with her time in the 1,500-meter free over the summer. That success kind of just built more success for her. She was a key part of a great distance freestyle corps that showed great spirit and a great camaraderie, and that helped drive her to even higher levels this season. She is still learning and working to put together even better races. It was truly exciting to see her growth this year."

Sara Troyer continued a terrific run of success for Nebraska divers in 2020. The sophomore from Goshen, Ind., earned CSCAA All-America honors in both the one- and three-meter dives. She secured an NCAA bid by taking fourth in the three-meter dive with a career-best 342.00 in the finals of the NCAA Zone D competition in Dallas, Texas. She was also set to compete on the one meter at nationals. It marked the seventh consecutive season that at least one Husker diver qualified for nationals under the tutelage of Head Diving Coach Natasha Chikina.

Troyer, who took fifth on the three meter and 10th on the one meter at the 2020 Big Ten Championships, earned 10 victories throughout the season. Her emergence as a sophomore could give the Huskers one of the best diving corps in the nation next year with the potential returns of four-time All-American Abi Knapton and 2019 NCAA qualifier Jessica Warak, after redshirt seasons in 2019-20.

"Sara is a real gamer and competes well under pressure," Morales said. "She was awesome at zones, competing and outperforming some of the best divers in the nation. It is a testament to her talent and mental toughness to carry the banner for our divers this year. It is also a tribute to Natasha, who brought her along and helped her lay a foundation to compete in the top echelon at the zone meet."

Nebraska's journey through the 2019-20 season began with a 154.5-88.5 dual win over South Dakota State in Brookings, Oct. 11.

The Huskers improved to 2-0 the following day with a 143-100 victory over Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls on Oct. 12.

A week later, the Big Red moved to 3-0 with a thrilling 151-149 win over Iowa State at the Devaney Natatorium on Oct. 19.

Nebraska closed its fall semester dual campaign with a setback at Kansas, before bouncing back to open the spring with an impressive 202-88 victory over Omaha.

In a true sense of swimming camaraderie and sportsmanship, the dual against the Mavericks at the Devaney Natatorium served as Senior Day for Omaha's swimmers, who had a home dual canceled by a winter storm.

Prior to the meet, Nebraska's staff introduced the Maverick seniors in front of their family and friends in attendance while displaying special graphics and messages on the HuskerVision screen.

The Huskers improved to 5-1 with a commanding 185-115 win over Big Ten rival Illinois, on Senior Day for Nebraska's swimmers at the Devaney Natatorium on Jan. 25.

NU closed the 2019-20 campaign with a 5-2 dual mark after a narrow 181-172 setback at Rutgers, Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

The Huskers managed a 10th-place finish (385 points) at the 2020 Big Ten Championships in Iowa City, Feb. 19-22.

Gabby Baratta, Maggie Berning, Katelyn Kilpatrick, Kimberly Lanaghen, Izzie Murray and Coffey competed at the NCAA Last Chance meet at Missouri, before Troyer capped NU's diving season with her fourth-place finish on the three-meter board at the NCAA Zone D meet on March 10.

The Big Red must say goodbye to a deep and talented senior class that included Tori Beeler (school-record 200 IM, 1:58.24), Carla Gonzalez-Garcia, Savannah Savitt, Lindsey Stalheim and Gwen Worlton, a group that Morales praised for developing a winning culture in 2019-20.

"Each and every senior made valuable contributions to our team. They showed each and every day how much they cared about our program. They not only made some truly inspirational swims, but they also inspired our younger swimmers with words of encouragement at some key moments during the season."

A group of five returning All-Americans and six NCAA qualifiers will hope to propel Nebraska to greater heights in 2020-21.

All-Americans Knapton, Haebig and Coughlen will lead a deep and talented 2021 senior class that also includes Baratta, Murray, Jessica Pentlarge, Rachel Powers, Mira Rhodes and Grace Tiernon.

All-Americans Coffey and Troyer will anchor a 2021 junior class that adds Berning, Kilpatrick, Taylor Acheson, Hallie Roman and third-year diver and NCAA-qualifier Warak.

"The strength our swimmers and divers have gained will carry over into next season, and more importantly to all areas of their lives in the future. They can take the lessons they learned this season and apply them to the extraordinary times they are facing right now. They can learn and grow from all the experiences to prepare themselves for any challenge that lies ahead. That is really the whole point of everything we are doing here at Nebraska and in college athletics."

In all, Huskers have combined for 249 All-America awards, while 31 Huskers have been multi-time All-Americans.

Julia Russell owns the distinction of earning the most All-America certificates as a Husker swimmer with 18 awards from 1994 to 1997. Russell is one of seven Huskers to earn 10 or more All-America awards, including NCAA Champion Penny Heyns (15), Melanie Dodd (15), Helene Muller (15), Therese Alshammar (13), Dana Powers (10) and Shandra Johnson (10).

Alshammar, who captured her 13 All-America awards in just two seasons at Nebraska, went on to become the first female swimmer in history to appear in six Olympic Games, including the 2016 Rio Olympics for her native Sweden.

One of the most prolific female swimmers in history, six-time Swedish Olympian Therese Alshammar was a 13-time All-American in just two seasons at Nebraska in 1997-98 and 1998-99.

INDIVIDUAL ACADEMIC AWARDS

CoSIDA ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICA AWARD WINNERS

LINDSAY HELFERICH
2019

Lindsay Helferich etched her name in Husker history by becoming Nebraska's third swimming and diving CoSIDA Academic All-American in 2019. Helferich claimed second-team honors in the at-large category following her senior season by posting a perfect 4.0 GPA during her career.

Helferich, a freestyle and backstroke specialist, joined Kaitlin Arntz (2010) and Courtney Jensen (2000) as Husker swimming and diving CoSIDA Academic All-Americans.

Helferich was one of five Husker student-athletes across all sports in 2018-19 to earn CoSIDA Academic All-America honors, joining Anton Stephenson (men's gymnastics), Angela Mercurio (women's track and field), Kevin Cahoy (men's track and field) and Marina Cozac (women's tennis). Helferich was one of nine Huskers to be named a Nebraska Outstanding Scholar. She added a 1A FAR Academic Excellence Award and was recognized for the third time as a Big Ten Distinguished Scholar.

She also excelled in competition, finishing 26th in the 50-yard freestyle at the 2019 Big Ten Championships. Helferich posted her top career Big Ten finish by taking 21st in the 100 backstroke in 2018, while adding 27th-place showings in the 50 and 100 freestyles the same year. As a freshman in 2016, she took 24th in the 200 back at the conference meet.

Before coming to Nebraska, Helferich was a top-16 finalist in the 200 back and a top-24 finalist in the 200 free at the Southern Zone Sectional Championships. She was also the valedictorian of her class at Odessa High School in Texas.

She earned her bachelor's degree from Nebraska in May of 2019 as a civil engineering major. She was a three-time academic All-Big Ten choice and earned eight spots on the Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll. She was also a four-time Tom Osborne Citizenship Team member.

KAITLIN ARNTZ

Kaitlin Arntz earned her place among Nebraska's NCAA-leading 338 CoSIDA Academic All-Americans by capturing third-team honors in the at-large category following her senior season for the Huskers in 2010.

Arntz was one of Nebraska's top breaststroke and individual medley swimmers during her time in Lincoln. She capped her outstanding career by becoming the first CoSIDA Academic All-America women's swimmer in school history. She joins former Husker diver and first-team honoree Courtney Jensen (2000) as the only members of the Nebraska women's swimming and diving program to capture Academic All-America accolades.

Arntz capped her competitive career with a fourth-place finish in the 200-yard breaststroke at the 2010 Big 12 Championships. She added a fourth-place performance in the 100 breast and a sixth-place showing in the 200 IM.

She finished fifth in the 200-yard breaststroke and 11th in the 200 IM at the 2009 Big 12 Championships. She was Nebraska's team MVP as a junior.

As both a freshman and sophomore, Arntz finished eighth in the 200 breast and 10th in the 100 breast at the Big 12 Championships.

Arntz joined the Huskers after a stellar high school career at Millard West in Omaha. She was a 16-time All-American at Millard West and a five-Nebraska state champion. She closed her high school career holding seven school records.

An advertising major at Nebraska, Arntz was nominated with a 3.94 cumulative GPA. She also earned first-team CoSIDA All-District VII honors. An honorable-mention CSCAA Scholar-All-America selection in 2010, Arntz was also a three-time academic All-Big 12 Conference selection for the Big Red from 2008 to 2010.

COURTNEY JENSEN
2000

Courtney Jensen capped an outstanding academic and athletic career as a first-team CoSIDA Academic All-America selection in the at-large category as a senior in 2000.

Jensen, a Husker co-captain and four-year letterwinner from Sheridan, Wyo., was a leader for Nebraska in the diving well throughout her career.

As a senior, Jensen produced a career-best 11th-place finish on the three-meter board at the 2000 Big 12 Conference Championships. She added a 17th-place performance in the one-meter dive.

As a junior, Jensen took 13th on the three-meter board at the 1999 Big 12 Championships, while adding a 23rd-place finish in the one-meter event.

Those performances followed a sophomore season in which she placed 21st on the three-meter and 22nd on the one-meter at the 1998 Big 12 Championships.

She opened her Husker career with 13th-place finishes on both the one- and three-meter boards as a freshman at the 1997 Big 12 meet.

A high school All-American both in competition and in the classroom, Jensen was a two-time Wyoming state champion at Sheridan High School.

An elementary education major at Nebraska, Jensen was nominated for the CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large team with a perfect 4.0 grade-point average. She claimed first-team CoSIDA All-District VII honors to advance to the national ballot and become Nebraska's first female swimming and diving CoSIDA Academic All-American.

NEBRASKA'S GOLDEN PENNY

PENNY HEYNS
Amanzimtoti, South Africa
Olympic Gold & Bronze Medalist
World Record Holder

It's not every day you run across a golden penny.

But for South Africans and Nebraskans alike, there was one shining bright at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta.

Penny Heyns, a former University of Nebraska standout, earned two gold medals and became the first female in Olympic history to sweep the breaststroke events.

Heyns' whirlwind year of success began on the collegiate level. In Husker suit and cap at the 1996 Big Eight Championships in mid-February, Heyns set a then-NCAA and U.S. Open record in the 200-yard breaststroke (2:08.90), as well as an NU record in the 100-yard event (1:00.18) to help Nebraska win its third consecutive conference crown.

After setting the records, Heyns was forced to travel home for the South African Olympic Trials, which were inconveniently scheduled between the two most important collegiate meets, the conference and national championships.

Nevertheless, it proved to be a trip Heyns would never forget.

During the preliminary heat of the 100-meter breaststroke at the trials, Heyns set a world record with a time of 1:07.46.

The time broke the record held by Australia's Samantha Riley, who had set a mark of 1:07.69 in September, 1994.

Just days after her return from South Africa, Heyns became the first Husker to win a national championship at the NCAA Championships in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Heyns dominated the 100-yard breaststroke with a pool-record 1:00.27 and also earned a silver medal in the 200-yard breaststroke with a 2:09.71 performance.

Heyns then entered the Olympics as the frontrunner in the 100-meter breaststroke event. She proved she had earned that title in the preliminaries, as she blew away the competition and shattered her own world record in a clocking of 1:07.02 in the process.

In the finals, Heyns got off to a quick start, but didn't dominate as she had in the prelims. America's Amanda Beard began her trademark kick at the 50-meter mark and almost caught Heyns at the wall. Heyns held on to finish in 1:07.72 and edged Beard (1:08.09), to claim gold for the first time.

Two days later, Heyns proved she wasn't finished.

After setting an Olympic record of 2:26.63 in the preliminaries of the 200-meter breaststroke, Heyns was timed at 2:25.41 in the finals and again beat out Beard (2:25.75) for the gold. Beard entered the Olympics ranked No. 1 in the 200, but couldn't catch up with the quick pace Heyns set from the start.

"That was one of the hardest races I ever swam," Heyns said following the race. "I'm just glad I had the guts to hang in there."

At a press conference in Lincoln, Neb., the week following her gold medal performances, Heyns admitted she was surprised about the win in the 200.

"In some ways, I sit back, and I really can't believe it," Heyns said. "The 200 (win) was totally unexpected. I don't think it has sunk in yet."

An extremely successful career at Nebraska fine-tuned Heyns for Olympic success. A 15-time All-American and 14-time conference champion for the Huskers, Heyns left Nebraska as the most decorated swimmer in the program's history. Heyns' accomplishments at Nebraska and on the international level will always be recognized.

Heyns has continually showed her appreciation for the University of Nebraska and its athletic department.

Following her double gold medal performance, Heyns didn't waste any time in thanking the Nebraska Swimming and Diving Program and its support staff for the role they played in her Olympic success.

"There is no way I would even be swimming today if I didn't come to Nebraska," Heyns said. "Nebraska has done so much for me that I could never express it. It's not just swimming, it's a family to me -- the whole coaching staff and all my friends."

For the next four years Heyns continued to define excellence in the sport of swimming on a world-class level by producing one of the greatest performances in the history of the sport.

At the 1999 Pan Pacific Championships, Heyns established three world records. Winning gold in both the 100- and 200-meter breaststrokes, Heyns touched the wall in 1:06.52 and 2:23.64, respectively, both world bests. In addition, she swam an exhibition 50-meter breaststroke, posting another world record with a time of 30.83.

Heyns took home her third medal at the 2000 Sydney Olympics by earning a bronze medal in the 100-meter breaststroke in a time of 1:07.55.
